The Immaculate Conception

Feast of St Peter and St Paul

29th June 2015

Dear friends,

the Church, founded by our Lord Jesus Christ, is one holy, Catholic and apostolic. Today, in honouring St Peter and St Paul, we are emphasising its apostolic origins. We believe that the Pope and the bishops in communion with him throughout the world are heirs and successors to the apostles. Peter was asked three times by Jesus: do you love me? It is the task of Pope Francis to preside in love over the whole Episcopal College and by his example to encourage his brother bishops to do the same within their own dioceses. Pope Francis is doing a great service to the Church as a whole by rendering the office of the papacy far more approachable. In recent times it has been unduly exalted at the expense of the whole college of bishops and he is trying to foster a nice balance between the two. His recent letter to the Church and the world on creation and the environment carries an important message for us all to respect the world's resources and not to squander them in a selfish and reckless fashion. In the autumn the forthcoming Synod of Bishops will continue to address the important issues of marriage and family life in a very changeable world situation. We pray that the Pope and the bishops will give us all effective guidance in a matter that touches us all.

This weekend we welcome back to Epping my very dear Australian friends from college days, Monsignor Michael Keating and Monsignor Peter Kenny. In a few more weeks I hope to visit them in Australia.

God bless you all
