Fourth Sunday of Lent

6th March 2016

Dear friends,

we are now well into the Year of Mercy called for by Pope Francis and the theme of reconciliation is spelled out very clearly in the readings today. St Paul, speaking to his Corinthian converts, cries out: Be reconciled to God: Our Lord has exactly the same message in his moving and powerful parable of the Prodigal Son. That story concludes in an open ended way: did the elder brother allow himself to be reconciled with his feckless sibling or not? Their father tries to persuade him but the outcome is unknown. But what about ourselves? How are we affected by the healing process both in our reconciliation with God and in our reconciliation with each other? Lent is the acceptable time; it is the season of salvation.

I am away this weekend. My brother and I are going to Buckfast Abbey in Devon for a three day retreat. I welcome the opportunity to prepare for Holy Week in such peaceful surroundings. Meanwhile, we welcome to Epping Fr Joseph Farrell, a very old friend of mine, who will hold the fort in my absence.

On this Mothering Sunday we pray for all the mothers of the parish and thank them for all that they do within their families and within the wider community.

God bless you always.

Please come to pray that mothers in crisis pregnancies will accept help and support to have their baby rather than abort. We are there from 7.45am to 11.30am. We pray the Rosary, various litanies and, at about 9.30am, the Stations of the Cross. Your presence really will make a difference and might save a life.
